

Following a period cultivating their fierce talent and sound on labels such as Citrus and Disturbed, Ukrainian duo AGRESSOR BUNX struck deep into the psyche of the drum & bass scene with a series of powerful releases on some of the most established labels of the genre, including BAD TASTE RECORDINGS, PROGRAM, BLACKOUT and TRENDKILL. But it was their striking emergence onto premiere neurofunk label EATBRAIN with 'The Order' EP in 2016 that changed everything and gave Agressor Bunx a sonic family, with the brothers refining their sound to tear a ragged furrow through the year with their rapid rise to the apex of the drum & bass sphere.

With the duo featuring heavily on the drum & bass club circuit, they've seared their aesthetic deep into the hearts and ears of ravers across Europe, quickly becoming embedded in the very core of the scene. With 2017 rolling, the future is brighter for the pair than ever, bringing the release their collaboration with THE UPBEATS on NOISIA's VISION label and the duo's debut LP on Eatbrain in the form of the PROPERTIES OF ADDITION, delivering an array of the kind of cutting-edge diverse and heavy-hitting forms of drum & bass that fans of both Agressor Bunx and Eatbrain have come to expect. The brothers have staked out a fierce and advanced sound field with their evolved and tech-driven funk, with their audio experimentation pulverizing speaker cones in ever more unique ways.
